Lockheed Martin is one of the first to have a great new online voting feature

Lockheed Martin is one of the first companies to have a great new online voting feature as illustrated below.

After each ballot item there is the words “More Details.”

Simply click on “More Details” and it takes one to the exact page on EDGAR that describes the particular ballot item.

It would be great if a lot more companies adopted this feature for 2023 and 2024.

Please ask the Corporate Secretaries and the Chairs of the Governance Committees of your companies to adopt this new feature soon as possible.
